

Communicating with Your Program Officer: Strategies for Success

November 6, 2018 from noon to 1:30 pm

Avoid the dreaded response to your research proposal!

“A well-written proposal, but fails to meet our funding priorities.”

This short workshop for assistant-level faculty led by Angela Phillips Diaz (federal government relations), Kaitlin Chell (state government relations) and experienced math and science faculty will provide strategies for initiating contact, seeking advice and building relationships and trust with program officers at state and federal granting agencies.

Faculty who attend this workshop and would like to meet with their program officer will be eligible to apply for travel funds administered through the Office of Research Affairs.

<http://researchcommunications.ucsd.edu>

Location TBA. Space is limited.
Registration is required.

Funded by a grant from the Gordon and Betty Moore Foundation .